
Oct. 25-26 Porsches at the Point event at Infineon

Posted by pixrken - 2008/07/14 19:32

NorCal will be adding the PRC's Porsches at the Point event to our schedule October 25-26 2008. Since this event is added mid-season you can race either the Oct 4-5 race at Thunderhill backwards or the October 25-26 race at Infineon. You can race both but only one October race will count for points.

The Porsches at the Point is a special Porsche only event.

NorCal 944-SPEC will be using this as a feature CASH race event starting next year and working towards a 944 only run group.

1. Ken #89

OK fellas, here is my scenario.

I have already raced 5 weekends but one of my races I had a DNF so really I have 9 races that I consider that counts towards my season finals. I know we are taking the best 12 races to determine the overall standings so I need to race 2 more weekends to finish out the season.

I was planning on racing in the extreme heat of Summer at Thunderhill this coming weekend 8/23-24 but since I now have the option of running at Infineon on 10/25-26 and also the last race at Infineon on 11/8-9, I think I might just flake on you guys for the August race.

I much prefer to run closer to home and not suffer in the extreme heat. I hope you guys stay cool and hydrated. Have fun and I'll see you at Porsches at the Point.

We'll have trophies for this event plus at least $1,600 in contingencies and some fun raffle prizes.

Fishing set, basketball, soccer ball, airsoft guns, BBQ set, binoculars, tool set, cold stone creamery gift cards, plus a lot more to help you thru the off season. :laugh:

I'll be there. I'll be registering at the last minute because I spent all my money getting the car ready for the previous event, but I'll be there.

Count me in as well. Is anyone going to do T'hill backwards? If nobody else is going to race, i might just do a HPDE weekend and give rides to the wife.

I will be at the Porsches at the Point race. Hopefully we can get the largest 944 turnout this year so we can eventually get our own run group and make this an annual event even larger than Millers.

Ken has some really good vision and plans for all of us. Keep up the GREAT WORK! :woohoo:

Thanks Sid but for this event I'll be happy just to get all of our cars out there.

NorCal is consistently growing and we'll have a double digit field next year.

I don't think this event will ever be larger than Millers and I want to do everything I can to make Millers larger. NorCal can help by sending a larger contingent to Millers.

I do want to make the "Porsche at the Point" a premier 944 event starting next year.

It'll be another venue for a get together. B)

Sounds fun, I'd be there if I could.

The only HPDE group that can register is group 4.

Hey Gary,

I think you are ready for HPDE4 now ;) Do you have to get signed off in order to go to the next level HPDE? I never did any NASA HPDE's and went straight into 4 and nobody said anything. Get some Toyo R888's on your car and get out there so you can get your racing license by early next year and race with us. :woohoo:

It's too bad they can't have a another HPDE group for the event.
The schedule is not out yet but we'll be done before 2pm for both days because that's the start of the NASA enduro.

This event is coming up next weekend.
If you haven't already signed up please do so.
Tech would be with the PRC 4pm-8pm friday and 7am-8:30am saturday.
Please have your tech sheet and log book filled out (normal) and also your NASA license.
Your log book should already have pictures of your car, just a reminder for new cars/log books.

There is no admission charge for this event.
Sat. BBQ hosted by Wine Country motorsports.

Big Dog - King of the Road, Barb, Peanut, Piper and the mothership will be there on Thursday evening. We are planning on doing the test day Friday.

What that means is that, for those of you that come out on Friday, the Mothership will be there with something to drink and to nibble on.

We will see you there.

Big Dog and the group.

OK, I just looked at the schedule. There is a 4 hour enduro Sunday afternoon. What is that all about? I don't see you guys putting together teams for that event.

Is that for some other deal that we can't race in? Can we put together a team or teams to run in it?

You 25 hours guys should be ready for this little 4 hour deal.

Ken, how do I get in on that deal?

Big Dog (and all the rest)

Hi Jim,

Anyone can sign-up for the Enduro and one of the guys that ran the 25 Hours with us, Todd Grantham is doing just that in his 911 after our normal race.

You can sign-up here:

<https://www.nasaproring.com/ems/event/733>

Let's see if anyone else is interested in doing this.

Jim and Greg will be running the Enduro in the E2 class.

Jerry will be crewing but could use one more person to help crew.

Refueling, check the oil, help the drivers in/out, tire change if needed, etc. ;)

I'm catching an airplane monday at 6:00 am so getting home early sunday is a priority, otherwise I'd be happy to.

Camp 944 is located on the parking row by the middle grandstand stairwell.

Look for Jim's "mothership" RV
