944-SPEC - 944SPEC - low cost wheel to wheel racing

My buddy drove out there today thinking it was fairly clean, from the looks of the pictures, but the paint is definitely faded and the interior is not that clean either. The motor could have a broken timing belt as it does not currently run but everything is in tact. Body is in fair condition with dents here and there. Side mirrors are not in good condition and might need to be replaced. Overall not bad because he was going to buy it for only $400. Way better than the one listed above.

I would pay $350 (shipped) for the late offset wheels, and aluminum A-arms, if someone wants to get this and sell the parts. The motor would also be good as a spare, especially if it's an '88 (high compressiion pistons are worth more than $350 alone) Though it's pretty rough, I'd pick it up in a heartbeat if it were closer.
