

Anyone going to the 25 hours?

Posted by Sterling Doc - 15 Nov 2012 21:05

Guys I'm going to be out at the USCF the 7th & 8th for a medical education course, and then will swing by the 25hours that weekend. I'd love to meet a few of you guys!

=====

Re: Anyone going to the 25 hours?

Posted by 944Racer72 - 18 Nov 2012 12:25

The little town of Willows is ~ 8 miles from the track and you will get off I-5 there, assuming you are going that way. There are a few fast food type places and hotels there.

Unfortunately I can't make it out there. Note the we have a Laguna combined event with SOCAL next year. Mark the date now!

=====

Re: Anyone going to the 25 hours?

Posted by JerryW - 18 Nov 2012 18:35

Willows rolls up the sidewalks and most places are dead by 9pm. Food at the track is available, but not normally through the night. (Breakfast and Lunch normally only).

=====

Re: Anyone going to the 25 hours?

Posted by Sterling Doc - 20 Nov 2012 06:29

944Racer72 wrote:

The little town of Willows is ~ 8 miles from the track and you will get off I-5 there, assuming you are going that way. There are a few fast food type places and hotels there.

Unfortunately I can't make it out there. Note the we have a Laguna combined event with SOCAL next year. Mark the date now!

That sounds interesting!

=====

Re: Anyone going to the 25 hours?

Posted by Sterling Doc - 07 Dec 2012 07:08

Arrived in San Francisco!

=====

Re: Anyone going to the 25 hours?

Posted by JerryW - 09 Dec 2012 09:54

Not going to make it up there this morning. Sorry

=====

Re: Anyone going to the 25 hours?

Posted by Sterling Doc - 10 Dec 2012 18:01

Jerry, I got your email, but didn't get a chance to get back to you. There was one 944 there from Arizona, that lasted the entire 25 hours without much drama.

Sorry I missed you guys. I did get to check up on the a bunch of used RR's to see if there were any issues, and had a good time rooting Neal & Dan on, even if they were in Miatas!

=====