

Ready	/ to	Join	You	Guy	/S
Posted by	Sala	nis42 - 1	0 Dec 2	2009 17	2:32

Well, I have a buyer for the BMW and it will be gone this Saturday. That'll be enough for a Chevy Astro and a 944 Spec car. For my birthday, my grandparents are sending me to a Skip Barber school, which aught to get me my license. So, I'm beginning my race car hunting in earnest.

Wondering if you have any suggestions on what I should be looking for. Just on this forum, these two cars have caught my eye as good options, and wanted to see what you all suggest:

944spec.org/944SPEC/component/option,com...ew/id,5695/catid,21/

944spec.org/944SPEC/component/option,com...ew/id,6130/catid,21/

Thanks again for your support. I'm looking forward to hanging with you all more when the race season starts up!

-Cameron

Re:Ready to Join You Guys Posted by Salanis42 - 12 Dec 2009 09:39

BMW Sold today. I should have a van by the end of the week.

If that other one already sold, looks like I'm going with Chris's, which I was leaning towards anyway. Going to have to work a bit on coordinating transportation down here. This is the last week of the semester (I teach) so I should have time to make a trip out to him.

Edit: Ron, Yeah, I'm planning on buying pre-built. Makes sense to save money and time, and have

944-SPEC - 944SPEC - low cost wheel to wheel racing

Generated: 2 May, 2024, 15:07

something already sorted. It will be good to know I'll have something running before the race season starts up, so I'll have a few months to get comfortable with it at HPDE before taking it wheel-to-wheel.

......