

Willow Springs March 18-19 event

Posted by Atteberry - 10 Mar 2017 14:21

The usual question, asking bout race attendee's at our first points event at Willow Springs. By opening this topic up I represent 1 entrant.

I can have 7's Only set up a designated area for us similar to what we did last year. They will be pitted very near the snack bar/meeting room. Last year worked out well, everyone had a good amount of space to spread out. They usually get there on early Friday morning. I can ask for them to get their earlier if needed.

Winter is over the Daytona 24 hour is finished and Sebring 12 hour is completed so now is time for the 944 Spec race season to begin. Those other races are just the preseason events leading up to the highly competitive premier Porsche series

Tom,

Thanks!

I am also better at taking them apart vs putting them together, but I have no choice!!!!

I seem to remember that you won one of the races here last year. Seven of us won at least one race last year, so I don't expect to be able to repeat. That is what is so great about this class and region. ANY of us could win at any time.

So, if you promise to stay in my REAR view mirror, I will come.

Seriously, even if I have to use Duct tape, I plan to be there. I may be wounded, but will fight to the end!

Looking forward to seeing everybody again.

I'll be there. Looking forward to it. I feel particularly out of it, having taken too long of a break from racing.

Paddock in one big corral sounds great!

Are people planning to do the awards dinner?

Everett

I'm not planning on doing the awards dinner. Will probably cook in the motor home. If anyone is interested, perhaps we can do a group meal like we did at the championships but on a much smaller scale. We can use the kitchen in my motor home or set up under my awning. We should have good weather this weekend. I attached a screen shot of where we were last June. Betty and I were the first to show up last year and set up along the out edge of the paddock. I can try to get us the same spot if it's not already taken.

Debby and I are going to the awards dinner. I suspect that Tom and Jim will be going as well.

7's Only should be to the track between 9-10 AM Friday. They will have an are roped off for us in their usual location. Turn right after the entrance to the and in the middle portion of the paddock near the meeting room/ stack bar you will find their white semi rig and my car plus. There will be the semi rig and a motor home if all goes as planned if not at least expect to see the motor home. I look forward to seeing everyone.

Everett I suspect you will knock the rust of fairly quickly.

Chuck did you get all the parts put back on the car? Do you have any left over parts laying around?
