I have several things for sale that I would like to unload since other things ended up working out.

Traqmate Classic Display Only with non-locking connector, no SU to DU cable - $175 shipped

Ultrashield Window Net - New as of 2 months ago - $25 shipped

Longacre Hot Lap timer - Has both display and receiver unit with cable but no transmitter - Free to whomever pays shipping. Display does work, but I haven't had a useable signal to test it out.

I also have a brake bias valve setup that was on my car. Includes brake lines from the master to the T just in front of the rear axle via a bias valve that mounts on the passenger side of the driveshaft tunnel inside the car. Obviously not spec legal, but maybe 944 cup legal and is already fabbed to fit a 944. Not looking to make any money on the parts, maybe just pay shipping.
