

Tarett Engineering new 944 Spec Sponsor!

Posted by Sterling Doc - 24 Apr 2012 10:12

I'm proud to announce Tarett Engineering as a new 944 Spec Sponsor.

For the first time, Tarett is offering substantial savings exclusive to 944 Spec drivers.

I have run Tarret bars for years, and won several NASA Regional and National Championships on them. As you can see in the picture below, they are a work of art, and have superior quality hardware that stands up to frequent adjustments in a racing environment. They have always been the premium option, but now at a great price as well. This is a limited time offer through June 31st, so don't miss out!

Here's the deal:

$552 Front & $420 Rear (15% / $171 discount)

Offer valid now through June 31st

Each individual must contact me to set up their discount to verify their status as a 944 Spec driver. Email me at Eric dot Kuhns at G mail dot com.

Each driver must run 18" Tarret decals (provided with bar shipment) for one year.

Also new is hardware to adapt to the early steel arms, which was developed so all in the class could have equal access to this deal and hardware. It is recommended that you box weld the front steel arms for use with the Tarett antisway bars.
