

PCA race at COTA in May

Posted by Timwold - 19 Jan 2013 07:14

It has been reported on Rennlist that PCA has secured a date at COA in May. There should be 7-10 SP1 cars at TWS in march and more that at COTA

=====

Re: PCA race at COTA in May

Posted by Steffeazy - 19 Jan 2013 16:54

I'm jealous!

=====

Re: PCA race at COTA in May

Posted by AgRacer - 19 Jan 2013 19:04

Awesome news. Does PCA cap entries?

Is there an easy place to find Texas PCA race listings?

=====

Re: PCA race at COTA in May

Posted by Timwold - 20 Jan 2013 08:14

PCA entries are limited by the number of cars the track will allow, there are a few PCA races which sell out and this will be one.

The link for the PCA schedule is listed below. The COTA race is not listed yet but the region folks have posted the news on rennlist. There are 5 races in or near the texas regions this year

www.pca.org/Activities/ClubRacing/Schedule.aspx

march at TWS

April at NOLA

May at COTA

October at hallett

October at eagles

I am currently planning on attending these 5 races:work schedule and family schedule permitting

There are several new SP1 (944 spec in PCA) cars built, bought or in progress for this year. With Coomes and Blazer each building a rental car we are hoping for 10+ at each PCA race. With the draw of COTA it is possible for 15+ but people will have to register fast

=====

Re: PCA race at COTA in May

Posted by AgRacer - 21 Jan 2013 14:47

So what kind of contingency money is available for racing in PCA?

=====

Re: PCA race at COTA in May

Posted by phlip - 21 Jan 2013 15:56

AgRacer wrote:

So what kind of contingency money is available for racing in PCA?

No contingency, and you'll prolly have to run RA-1's.

I guess I may have to join for this race.

=====